School Board Meeting Thursday Night To Consider Reorganization of Staff

Superintendent Paul Houston's thoughts about transferring principels and creating a new curriculum co-ordinator position will be laid before the school board – and what promises to be a sizeable audience – this Thursday at 8 p.m. in Community Park School. (For early citizen comment, see "Mailbox," page 19.)

In addition, the board will act on reducing the tenured and non-tenured staff in the procedure known as "riffing," from the initials for "Reduction in Force," and will also act on non-tenured staff whose contracts simply aren't being renewed. These staff decisions must be made by April 30 under state law.

Because a few last-minute ends remain to be tied, the board is expected to go into closed session for an estimated 15 minutes shortly after the routines of minutes and bill-paying, emerging to continue the public meeting.

As usual when "riffing" is being done, administrators say they cannot say how many teachers are involved because the number changes daily. Dr. Paul Jennings, assistant superintendent, said this week that one teacher is still considering whether to ask for a leave.

If this teacher does go on leave, another teacher will not have to be "riffed." If the teacher stays, it's a question of two people and only one job, and "riffing" is invoked

Often, Dr. Jennings pointed out, people "riffed" now are called back in the summer because of the shifts caused by leaves of absence, additional resignations, unexpected moves out of the community, and so on.

Very few, possibly only one or two, of the tenured staff are involved in any reduction in force.

Dr. Houston's plan to make what he calls "a major change in administrative leadership" reportedly Involves transferring Lloyd Taylor, now principal of Littlebrook, into the new position of Director of Elementary Education.

In that role, he would, in Dr. Houston's description, "monitor, support and co-ordinate the elementary program." The new job would be made possible by eliminating one assistant principalship at the high school. Dr. Houston points out that his high school study, released last fall, "indicated that the (high) school was overstaffed administratively."

In the chess moves that would follow Mr. Taylor's re-assignment, George Petrillo would move from the high school to the principal's chair at Littlebrook. It is believed that Murray Cohen, now principal of Johnson Park, would become principal of Community Park; Norma Gumbiner, now at Riverside, would become principal of Johnson Park and Eugene Biringer, principal of Community Park, would move to Riverside. William Johnson would remain at the Middle School. It is not known how the vacant high school principalship would be filled.

Democrats Will Not Oppose Cawley for Mayor; Vote on Consolidation a Factor in Their Decision

For the first time in memory – including the 33-year-long span of retiring Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney – there is only one candidate for mayor of the Borough Democrats announced this week that they are not running anyone against Republican incumbent Robert W. Cawley.

The possible consolidation of Borough and Township apparently affected the decision. Mr. Cawley, when he announced that he would run again for mayor, said "If consolidation is voted in, I'd like to be part of that transition."

"We asked ourselves," said David Klein, president of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, "whether anyone could mount a successful campaign against a very popular incumbent who has pointed out that it might well be a transition job only."

"Is it fair to ask someone to launch a long, difficult campaign for an interim position?"

Consolidation of Borough and Township will be on the ballot this November. If voters approve the merger, elected officials will serve through 1980. The governing body and mayor – if that form is voted in – would take office January 1, 1981.

Mr. Cawley will be entering his third four-year term. He first served a two-year term, before the state law for Borough mayors' terms was changed

He said he was surprised by the Democrats' decision, then added, "I'm pleased."

Although the mayor's seat will go uncontested, there will be contests for the two seats on Borough Council.

Democrats have announced the candidacy of Barbara Hill, who will be the running-mate of Martin P. Lombardo. He is running for his fourth term.

Republicans will have Gary S. Grover as the running-mate of incumbent Richard Woodbridge.

The deadline for filing for the June primary is this Thursday. In the Township, Republican George Adriance and Democrat William Starr have already announced that they will run.

Borough Democrats, who cannot run Mr. Cawley's name in their column by law, face the possibility of a primary write-in who would then become the party's lawful candidate, whether the party wanted that person or not. Mr. Klein said the Democrats are aware of this possibility and will have a strategy to meet it.

Mrs. Hill, who is chief administrator — "master" — of the Princeton University Graduate College, has been active in Democratic affairs for some years, and is assistant treasurer of the PCDO. She was one of the key people in last year's Macgill-Wallack campaign and has served as a Democratic County Committeewoman.

At present, she is an alternate on the Borough Zoning Board and was on the Joint Civil Rights Commission. She has lived in Princeton, "off and on," she says, for the past 13 years. Her address is Pyne Tower.

Mr. Grover is a Princeton native, a member of the class of 1962 at Hun School, where he won 10 varsity letters spread among football, baseball and basketball. He is a member of the Joint Recreation Board and was founder of the Princeton (Nassau) Soccer Association.

With his father, Raymond, and brother, Jeffrey, he is an owner of the Grover Taxi Company. Before returning to Princeton, he spent over five years in Savannah, Georgia, as subcontract administrator for Grumman Aerospace Corporation. He lives at 16 Chestnut.

Reports Show Consolidation Would Aid Most Municipal Services

The reports of the Consolidation Study Commission's subcommittees continue to move along the track toward the mid-May deadline for a preliminary report.

This Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Jewish Center, the discussion of a possible form of government, if Princeton voters decide Borough and Township should be merged, will continue.

Before that, however, the Commission will talk some more about assets and real property, and will learn which Borough and Township ordinances aren't in conflict. The Commission will also hear what would happen to the already-merged school system, in the event of municipal consolidation. The only option, apparently, is how many people would sit on the school board. It is reported that the recommendation will be seven, chosen from the community at large.

This Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in Township Hall, the Commission will consider the bonded indebtedness aspect of consolidation.

Last Thursday, Commissioner Arthur P. Morgan reported that only one of the sub-committees on municipal services and administrative structure, felt that consolidation would cause a loss in efficiency and the quality of service.

That was "Legal Services" whose one committee member, John Bleimeier, suggested that in the long run, legal services would not have the same quality.

Overall, Mr. Morgan reported, committees felt that "there appears to be no serious practical reason why governmental units should not be consolidated." In fact, because of current vacancies and retirements that are coming up, he said, "the next few years offer a particularly fortuitous time during which to consolidate."

The Commission has agreed with the suggestion of co-chariman William Selden that the forthcoming preliminary report comment only on the feasibility of consolidation, leaving discussion of intangibles for public comment.

Dr. Houston concedes that the change is one "which involves some short-range discomfort, but offers the promise of sharing the strengths of our ad-ministrators in different school settings. This will benefit both individuals and the school system."

He also repeated his comment that the plan "should not be viewed narrowly, or as singling out individual administrations. ministrators for movement.'

be assigned to a "crucial" nev department of Inspectional Services or to a Planning and Research division which would be vital in the early years of merger. Elmer J. Thompson, director of the New Jersey Police Training Commission, whose wife served on the committee, drafted a proposal for organizing the combined police forces in two phases.

An initial loss of "smalltown personal contact" would be regained, the chiefs said, and outweighed by unified enforcement. Both departments were praised by the committee as "highly-trained competent enforcement agencies."

municipalities, this is the largest department in terms of staff and budget. Since the work load would be the same, there would be no dollar there would be no dollar --Katharine H. Bretnall savings, but services would be improved because personnel and equipment would be used more efficiently. The committee suggested moving the consolidated department into Township Hall.

Differences between Borough and Township were noted: garbage collection in the Borough is municipal; in the Borough is municipal, in the Township, it is largely done by private contractors. The Township system shouldn't be changed, the committee said, because it would remove the livelthood of the garbage collectors

The Sewer Operating Committee should be eliminated. With only one engineering department, communication with the Planning Board and a single Zoning Board – instead of two – would be improved.

Because of new and complex state regulations on development, both engineering departments may already be understaffed, the committee suggested. In a consolidated department, the head should be an experienced professional manager, skilled in managing professionals and evaluating their performance. The job would not be so much concerned as now, with performing a great many tasks.

With the future need to rehabilitiate in the Borough and build anew in the Township, "a combined public works department would be stronger than the sum of the

Job Byrne Is Doing as Governor Given Favorable Rating by 33% in New Jersey

New Jersey Governor Brendan Byrne's job rating has remained stable, with about one New Jerseyan in three offering a favorable evaluation of his performance in office, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

The Rutgers-based survey found that 35 percent of New Jersey residents gave the Governor positive marks of "excellent" or "good," while 59 percent gave him negative evaluations of "only fair" or "poor." This is basically unchanged from a January Eagleton survey where negative ratings outnumbered positive ones by a margin of 61 to 34 percent.

Democrats were slightly more positive about Byrne's performance than were Independents or Republicans. Forty-seven percent of Democrats interviewed gave the Governor positive ratings while 49 percent rated him negatively. Negative evaluation outnumbered positive ones by a margin of 66 to 30 percent among independents, and by a margin of 70 to 26 percent emong Republicans.

Garden State residents' evaluations of the New Jersey State Legislature also changed little since January. The April survey found 31 percent evaluating the legislature's performance positively while 6t percent evaluated it negatively. Last January negative ratings of the legislature's performance outnumbered positive ones by a margin of 62 to 28 percent.

DUTCH ELM DISEASE: GOOD NEWS AND BAD NEWS

with Sem deTuro

Woodwinds Associates

One of the sad sights of spring is a dead or dying native American Elm, once so plentiful and such an integral part of so many neighborhoods, victim of Dutch Elm

Dutch Elm Disease first entered this country in 1930 in imported logs which harbored Elm Bark Beetles beneath their bark. The Elm bark Beetle kills either by injecting a toxin into the sap stream, or by cutting off the water supply of the tree by feeding and destroying tissue at the twig crotches.

When a tree is weakened, either by lack of sufficient food, drought, root injury, leaffeeding insects, or even by storms that split crotches, tatter limbs, and wrench loose roots. the first signs of weakness are usually in the upper parts of the tree. At this point the villanous beetle moves in. It is of utmost importance to immediately prune out all dead and diseased wood and destroy it, and equally important to immediately cut down and destory any dead Elm, or the beetle will spread to other Elms in the vicinity

The essential steps to follow in treating Elms are: 1) Prune, water well, and feed; 2) spray to contain leaf chewing insects, and 3) keep the tree healthy with a regular feeding program. A healthy Elm can repel Bark Beetles and other destructive insects.

Now the good news: There is widely available in this area a most attractive substitute for the beleaguered Elm...the Zelkova. Native to Japan, it has the same distinctive wine glass shape as the Native American Elm, with large, dark green leaves, which turn an attractive rusty red in fall. The Zelkova is impervious to Dutch Elm Disease and Leaf and Bark Beetle attack. It grows rapidly, is very hardy, and has an unusually desirable branching habit, reaching heights of 50-60 feet.

Homeowners who might be interested in this fine tree as a replacement for a lost Elm, dr simply as an extremely attractive addition to any landscape plan, are cordially invited to attend the Princeton Area Arbor Day activities in Marquand Park on Saturday, April 28, starting at 10 a.m. A beautiful specimen Zelkova will be donated to the Park as a part of the program, which promises to be an enjoyable and intormative event for all

A Graduate School student last week reported the theft of a $60 battery from his car while it was parked in a lot off Springdale Road at the rear of the school.

A car of a Township resident was broken into last week while it was parked in Lot 5 on the University campus.

Police said that the right front window had been broken. Taken were an FM-AM radio valued at $100 and a tennis racket valued at $63.

Jean Bosley, apparently born with a smile, has been director since 1973. But she first saw the school when she was six months old, living in the Birch Avenue house where she still lives.

"After 1 went to school, we always came back here to say 'hello' to Eve Miller -- she was the director then. When I was in Princeton High, I came here as a volunteer, then Early Childhood Education and Trenton State for elementary education and back here in '55 as an aide and then teacher!" And she laughs ... "I'm just so devoted to this place!"

Three Ptus Two. Three teachers have 18 students, a comfortable ratio. There is math ("math" at three?) which means teacher asks, which means teacher asks,
"Bring me three blocks."
"Now, bring me two more."
"How many do we have?" ... and geometry: a clock is round, a paper is a rectangle.
"They learn constantly!"
Jean smiles. "You know the song - 'This old man, he plays one ... he plays two?' All the one ... he ptays two'? All the time."

Touch and feel ... it's a blindfold game and you taste a new food. Is it sweet, sour, smooth? You make the pizza for lunch and you get to dump all the things on, counting, naming, calling out the colors.

"Wa encourage klds to read, but do not force them," the director explains, "about onethird can read when they leave here for kindergarten. My primary objective is to insure that each child has the opportunity to develop a positive self-image within a relaxed, secure atmosphere. That can best be accomplished through a curriculum which allows each child to develop at that child's own rate of learning.

A Good Start. "It really is a good beginning, and some kids feel a regression, when they go to half-day kindergarten in go to half-day kindergarten in regular school. And after school, if they just have a baby-sitter, they're bored. I wish we could have an after-school program for the kids who've left us!"

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO SELL

When listing your home with a Realtor to sell, there are a variety of arrangements you can make. But if you are seriously intent on selling your home within a onable time and at the price you are asking, it would pay to consider making an "exclusive right to sell" agreement.

This gives the Realtor the right to his commission if he actually sells your home during the listing period, or if another Realtor sells it, or if you sell it yourself.

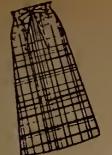

Under these conditions, the Realtor will have the added incentive and protection to go all-out in heavily advertising your house and showing it to prospects. He will not be afraid of bringing it to the attention of other Realtors who may have qualified prospects. As a rule, Realtors are willing to cooperate and share the single commission. That gives you the advantage of having several Realtors make a determined effort to sell your home.

If you are leaving the area and need information about homes for sale in another town or state-call STONY BROOK REALTY for a free copy of Homes For Living picture magazine for the area you will be moving to. Parking Study Delayed, to Start Next Week

The Borough's parking survey will start next mid-week, delayed because the firm doing the study was itself delayed getting postal permits for its questionnaire.

If you park in the Central Business District during the week of the survey, you may find the questionnaire leaning against your windshield when you come back to your car. It will have a postage-paid (hence the delay) envelope inside. You're asked to answer the questions and mail in the en-

"Why did you come to the downtown area?" "What was your primary errand?" are the kinds of questions. Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley is urging co-operation; the survey firm hopes to get back 5,000 replies. A preliminary report will be made May 14.

The downtown Steering Committee of citizens will meet again Thursday, May 17, with consultants Venturi and Rauch (the May 3 meeting has been cancelled) to talk about design alternatives. The firm is expected eventually to present some alternatives for the Palmer Square area. These might be concerned with elimination or removal of the PCH elderly housing project from Palmer Square; the size, location and capacity of a parking garage and possibly changes in Palmer Square's own plans.

The firm has already suggested to PSI that one more floor be added to an expanded Nassau fnn to provide apartments.

Opponent of Nuclear Power Coordinating Plans in New Jersey for 'Three-Mile' Protest March in Washington Sunday, May 6

Isabelle Sayen seems, on first impression, to be the prototype of the suburban wife and mother — one who would more likely be found presiding at a garden club meeting than testifying at hearings and speaking at rallies on high cost in human and economic terms of nuclear energy.

And yet, despite an innate shyness and a sheltered upbringing, Mrs. Sayen has become in the past few years thoroughly conversant with the complicated energy problems focing the United problems facing the United States and an outspoken and tireless opponent of nuclear technology to solve those problems. As one of the founders of the New Jersey SEA (Safe Energy Alter-natives) Alliance and a member of its coordinating committee, she has worked for a moratorium on nuclear development in New Jersey.

She serves as a liaison with the Public Advocate's office in Trenton on matters of nuclear energy and through the New lersey CUE (Citizens on Utilities and Energy) represents consumer interests in rate increase hearings before the Public Utilities

Buses to Washington

Princetonians opposed to the dangers of nuclear power will demonstrate in Washington on Sunday, May 6, in a "trial" of the nuclear power industry sponsored by a combination of anti-nuclear headed Mobilization for Survival and the May 6th Coalition. Chartered buses will leave for the Washington March from the Princeton Shopping Center at 7 a.m. on May 6, and depart for the return trip from Washington about 5.

The demonstration will feature Ralph Nader, and Drs. Helen Caldicutt, Ernest Sternglass and Barry Commoner as speakers. Many par-ticipants will remain in Washington to lobby Congress.

For further information, or to reserve a bus seat, call 924-8580 11 to 5 Monday through Saturday; or evenings, Tamar Kohns, 921-1136, or Pate Hite, 921-2089. Round trip cost is $10.

Comparison With Oz Story, Mrs. Sayen tikens nuclear technology to the story of the Wizard of Oz. The tornado that lifts Dorothy out of Kansas and everything she ever knew is the bombing of Hiroshima. As Dorothy tries to find her way out, she is joined by the Scarecrow -- representing scientists -and the Tin Woodman -- technologists.

Together they start down "the yellow brick road" to the City of Oz where everything will be all right -- where there along its 30-year history. Mrs. Sayen cites previous partial core meltdowns at the Fermi Breeder Reactor and at an experimental reactor in Idaho, in which three men

At the end, Dorothy finds that the all-powerful Wizard of Oz was really an insignificant little fellow "whistling in the dark." The accident at Three Mile Island, she thinks, drops the curtain and reveals the proponents of nuclear power as also "whistling in the dark," - "very fallible, very confused and avidly promoting a technology that is hideously dangerous beyond anyone's comprehension."

Mrs. Sayen stayed glued to her television set throughout the Three Mile Island crisis. "I was possibly more horrified than the average citizen because I know so much more," she says. She seriously considered leaving her home Edgerstoune Road, knowing it could become contaminated if an explosion occurred, but then she realized that there was no place to go that could not also be reached by radiation-bearing wind and rain clouds.

Mrs. Sayen has also testified at Nuclear Regulatory Commission hearings in Lower Alloway Township against increasing the storage capacity for spent fuel rods at the Salem I plant by 'double racking.' She has also testified in Trenton before the Department of Transportation against transporting of nuclear wastes through New Jersey.

And she interjected the subject of radiation into the legislature's deliberations on the Clean Air Act. "They were thinking only in terms of hydrocarbons," she says, 'and my message is always to bring in the radiation effects from nuclear power which are all pervasive."

Mrs. Sayen regularly at-tends classes and talks at the Environmental Center at the University and Washington constantly to have studies and other materials sent to her. "It is an incredible field to try to master," she says. "But it stretches the mind, and I'm using all my talents.

"There is a feeling of satisfaction in knowing that you are contributing to something you believe in as deeply as I believe in stopping nuclear power."

IT TAKES A WIDE VARIETY OF people, ideas, curriculum, and activities to make a school hum, and John Witherspoon is no exception. The assortment of events at JW during the past few weeks speaks for

The Red Cross gained a helping hand through the efforts of House 5. Three hundred individual baskets for patients' trays or tables were constructed, filled with grass, and delivered in time to brighten the holidays. Earlier in the school year House 5 representatives served at the Thanksgiving dinner for senior citizens; helping others has been a real part of their lives.

The lacrosse team with coach Ward Campbell Issued an invitation to the Loch Raven, Maryland Middle School players to join them for a match here in Princeton. Twenty players arrived by bus and were hosted by area families overnight. Princeton University playing fields became the arena; the entire JW team played in a game marked with few fouls. Control was the key to a JW 5-2 win; a return engagement with the Baltimore area team has been proposed.

Another contest was one arranged by Upper C-Wing students of Mr. Jim Messersmith. A challenge was issued to other houses in the school for a great hellcopter building and flying competition. Four categorles were listed: the slowest falling, the fastest spinning, the slowest spinning, and the fastest starting-to-spin models. The formal challenge included a design diagram of acceptable models and promised adequate supplies of paper, tape, festeners, staples, and scissors. Twenty minutes were allowed for constructing and perfecting entries

One house responded elegantly on antiqued parch-

No prizes were given; the honor of having an impressively fast - or slow - model was sufficient.

An all-school disco, a talent show, a drama group essembly, and the Mathletes participation in the area "Olympics of the Mind" have been part of the total program at JW Middle School where enjoyment and learning go hand-in-hand.

MODEL FOR PROPOSED PLAYGROUND equipment at Community Park is now on display at the school for everyone's comments and approval. The wooden structure will accommodate many children while developing skills in climbing, swinging, crawling, jumping, and discovering (as children always do) new ways to put such equipment to use.

MANAGER OF FACILITIES Bill Karch is a men on the run with many projects to oversee. Normally his concerns would be limited to school buildings and grounds, but this year he has a primary concern in the PHS renovation and another change in the Valley Road School. There, school offices and work areas are being transferred to the newer wing.

Second floor rooms, originally built to hold dozens of lively students, were redesigned to yield reception areas, offices, workrooms, and storage. Framing has been completed for the new walls, ceilings and lighting as the transformation begins. Work is being done by the system's maintenance staff, although needed repairs around the district still have priority. At first only administrators and secretaries will shift operations, but as Township government services move out of currently occupied rooms into the Witherspoon Street section, the print shop and conference rooms will settle into new quarters. Medle department offices, darkroom, and work areas will eventually migrate to PHS to unite the various phases of Audio-Visual operations.

In Support of Petrillo. To the Editor of Town Topics:

Years back, the Parents of Princeton School Children were surprised by a deluge of contributions from parents of PHS handicapped teenagers who wanted to help and support Mr. Petrillo, then the Director of Guidance. He was being publicly needled and hounded by the Superin-tendent of Schools as a prelude to ousting him from his position in guidance.

The parents of the handicapped teenagers were anxious because Mr. Petrillo was their court of last resort. The first months of the school year would roll by without Special Services setting up the special programs their children needed. Desperate, they'd turn to Mr. Petrillo. Then he would prod Special Services until the special help was begun.

Consider. The Special Services Director who did not do his own job well proposed that he also become the Director of Guidance. Combining the two services would be more efficient.

The Superintendent favored the Director of Special Services -- he was an Advisor to the Superintendent. The Superintendent began a public campaign of criticizing and undermining Mr. Petrillo to create the impression that he SHEARER TREE SURGEONS when the present Superintendent of Schools and the School Board seriously offer "fresh air" and "burned out" as reasons for moving administrators all around the district, it can be illuminating to watch and listen for undercurrents.

A special invitation from Merrill Lynch to 18 very select Princeton area investors

Are you one of the handful of people who should speculate in commodity futures?

The opportunities for profit are enormous. So are the risks. Example: If you had put $1,800 into silver futures in January, 1979, you could have made (or lost) $8,500 per contract by February!

To qualify, you need substantial risk capital, and plenty of self-control.

We'll tell you more about it at a special Merrill Lynch Forum we've arranged for people who meet these qualifications.

The atmosphere is informal. A deceptively simple learning technique will help you soak up more on this complex subject than you ever thought you could in one sitting.

You'll personally participate in a frank

(and no doubt lively) discussion. We'll give you food for thought and facts for action.

- How you can make money on only 30 percent of your trades- and still come out ahead.
- 3 trading techniques, and 12 guidelines that can help make you a better speculator.

You'll also get a Speculator's Information Kit to take home and study. Kit includes: Commodity Speculator's Manual, our latest situation reports with quick trading Fact Sheets, and more.

Before you begin trading, you'll need facts. So don't miss our next Forums. They're free, but please reserve your seats now.

IN-LAWS OR INCOME (Live Freely or Live Free-Almost)

This larger-than-it-looks (app. 2300 sq. ft.) stone and frame ranch house is an attractive investment either way. The intriguing main house-six nice rooms highlighted by a superb kitchen-is comfortably separated from the three room apartment wing for freedom from in-laws or privacy from tenants. What's more, the rental income from the handsome and spacious apartment could nearly cover the yearly costs of the entire house. On top of that, the house is planned to the last detail for easy maintenance AND energy conservation. Add to that perfect condition and a lovely wooded Princeton Township setting and you've got a rare JUST REDUCED $164,500. find at a

BRICK AND BEAUTIFUL

And a rarity in Princeton Borough—an affordable 4 bedroom, 21/2 bath home in an established neighborhood!

SNOWDEN LANE

RILLWOOD

We are extremely proud to offer this oft-admired Princeton house in a park-like setting overlooking Harry's Brook in the Littlebrook, section of Princeton Township. Situated on over three acres of woods and field, this property offers-an opportunity that is rare...enough land for the family who wants a horse or farmette; enough woods for the man who does not wish too much outside maintenance. Built 18 years ago by its current owner under his experienced and watchful eye, it is sound, sturdy, spacious and virtually maintenance-free. A 32-foot front-to-back center hall is the focal point of the Colonial floor plan: living room with fireplace and french doors to a quiet patio, spacious dining room, comfortable kitchen and powder room complete the first floor. Four corner bedrooms and two full baths upstairs. Of course, it has the amenities of two-car attached garage, full basement, air conditioning, humidifier, 80 gallon hot water heater, and excellent insulation. Please call for an appointment to see this one-of-a-kind property.

Nagel Jackson, New Man at McCarter, Discusses His Plans for New Season

The new McCarter season will bring to Princeton Shakespeare, Brecht, Stop-pard, Coward, Moliere -- plus Nagel Jackson and the beginnings of a resident McCarter acting company.

Actually, the new Artistic Director hasn't yet chosen the six plays McCarter will offer from the announced list of nine. The advertised theme, "Take a New Look at Great. Theatre," was thought up by somebody else.

"I don't do any plays that aren't great!" he said crisply, in a recent interview.

Brisk, energetic, driving, a man of all parts in the theatre, Mr. Jackson is working in both Princeton and New York these days. He's looking toward the May 13 New York opening of the revision he did with Clark Gesner of "The Utter Glory of Morrissey Hall." Celeste

Holm will star.
He directed the Gesner musical for McCarter two seasons ago. After that premiere, he took a two-year re-did sabbatical, re-did "Morrissey" and is now Gesner's co-author. He also season. He will prob wrote one play, which has been given in San Francisco and "did fairly well," and another which "has commercial possibilities."

"Journey of the Fifth

Horse" - Ronald Ribman

"Custer" - Robert Ingham
"All the Way Home" - Tad

"The Visions of Simone Machard" -- Brecht ... and "a new play."

In Milwaukee, when he was artistic director of the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre for six years, Mr. Jackson directed "Custer" and found to his pleasure that New York Times critics Richard Eder "flipped over it," so it might well find its way to McCarter. The Ribman is an adaptation of a Turgenev short story, "terribly moving and funny" with the interesting theatre possibility of a grand ballroom scene within the walls of a Mosel's play, based on James Agee's "A Death in the Family," "is a real, American play in the best sense," Mr. Jackson says.

His contract with McCarter, at his request, calls for him to direct at least three plays a season. He will probably not act, although he has done so. "I don't trust a director who around, to see the company. Whether it can happen in three years, is up to the audiences.

There is a chemistry that can be set up between audience and company - it's like a ball-team, where people have favorites. The only time I've gotten heat from audiences is when actors left! I guess audiences thought I'd fired them. I've cast an actor as leading man in one play and a butler the next. Actors like that. To carry the lead every time is an enormous burden.'

A resident company can break away into new and different projects, he explains. In other communities where he has worked, actors have performed in churches, playgrounds, prisons.

"You can't expect the audience to come to your house all the time - you must go to theirs. But it's too early

The contract gives Mr. Jackson approval of the Managing Director, still to be chosen. Together, the two will hammer out what duties will fell to which fall to which.

A Built-in Computer. "I have a talent for ad-ministration -- and nothing was more of a surprise to me than to find that out! I plan the season from an artistic point of view, but a little computer is up there in my head, figuring out the budget, although I'm not an accountant. I've been involved with union negotiations, budgets, and I'm very aware of that side.

"I must keep most of my attention on the artistic side and not get bogged down in the other. But the budget items can't be divorced from the artistic. It's like a marriage the managing director must be exactly the right person. That's the way i've always worked.'

He's eager for his work at McCarter to begin.

DEADLINE NEARS
For Semeric. "I strongly, strongly doubt that the Garden will go dark," says Michael Feldman, assistant to Carl Schofer. Princet Carl Schafer, Princeton University's financial vicepresident and treasurer.

The 30-day grace period allowed the Sameric theatre chain under its lease with Palmer Square, Inc., witl expire Monday. At that time, the University -- PSI's majority stock-holder -- must decide whether to go to court to hold Sameric to the lease. The chain has paid some of what it owes PSf, Mr. Fetdman said:

He added that he hopes, "within a week to ten days," to have "something to report." Conversations with Sameric are continuing, through K. S. Sweet, Inc., the University's real estate consultant. Meanwhile, the Playhouse, sibling to the Garden, remains dark.

"TROILUS"

In time's Last. Shakespeare's "Troilus and based Cressida,'' Chaucer's epic story of love, set against the background of the Trojan War will open this Thursday as the last play of the season for Theatre Intime.

One wonders where the Princeton University Opera Theater can go from here. Can Alexander Hall's limitations continue to be so marvelously overcome, or will they prove to be too much of a strain?

Given this year's and tast year's successes, whatever happens next year will undoubtedly be worth attending, from the musical standpoint if no more. The question is whether the staging will be as lavish -- it sure would be nice.

The second annual Princetonarea spring concerts of The Columbus Boychoir will feature a new staged work written by the choir director of Canterbury Cathedral in England. ART In Princeton VAN DYCK ON VIEW At Art Museum. "Van Dyck as Religious Artist," featured at the Princeton University Art Museum is the result of a serious scholarly endeavor. The artist, who was born In Antwerp in 1599, was chiefly known for his portralture.

His brilliant career as court painter to Charles I of England obscured his equally significant career as a painter of religious history. This latter aspect of his life as an artist is now documented in the present collection and its paintings, preliminary oil sketches, prints and drawings leave no doubt as to this artist's significance as a religious painter. Although it was not possible to gather all of Van Dyck's major religious works, John Rupert Martin and Allen Rosenbaum have assembled a collection which allows an understanding of the artist's development as a religious painter and permits an appreciation of his work through the study of the paintings in conjunction with their developmental sketches and oil studies

Although the nature of the painting is formal and the subject determines the essential character of each determines the work, the sense of rich paint and color, the artist's technical virtuosity and his responsiveness to his medium combine to contribute an aesthetic dynamism that traoscends content and form. Rich, painterly passages are to be found within carefully modelled, technically restrained sections of the paintings presented in dramatic color.

It is in the drawings and the oil sketches, however, that we find the expressive drama and sensitivity of the artist most apparent. These are preliminary studies for major and include worked figure paintings carefully studies, freely developed figurative compositions and small oil sketches.

In these there is a freedom of both expression and material use that seems to carry with it a sense of freshness and immediacy. They allow us to share a more spontaneous aspect of Van Dycks' work that is obscured

> The use of realistic imagery demonstrated in an exhibition of contemporary prints from the Museum's collection.

Although the term realism conjures up specific forms, this collection reveals that there is a wide range of ar-tistic possibility to be found within the concept. There are prints in the collection that capture their subject with such fidelity that only careful scrutiny confirms that they are not photographs. FW by Robert Cottingham is an aquatint of such exceptional skill that its tonal changes duplicate those found by the camera.

Charles Wells's sensitive linear portrait of Einstein and the silly cartoon fun of Red Grooms's multicolor salute, the "Spirit of Independence," offer more ways to interpret the image. The collection also includes works by Philip Pearlstein, Robert Mother-wetl, Jim Dine, Robert Rauschenberg, Lichtenstein and Jasper Johns, each with his own style, many with original ways of restating the familiar.

At Western Etectric. The rhythmic structure of the landscape is captured in "The Calligraphy of Nature," a collection of paintings by Margnerite Dornbach. Mountains, woodland, lakes and rivers are presented with a fluidity and an intricate structure.

There is a stylistic range to be found in the paintings that gives the show a somewhat uneven character. However, in the more formal presentation to be found in the paintings.

Princeton's lacrosse and tennis teams will be in the spotlight this weekend, playing at home.

Coach Mike Hanna's team will play Harvard in lacrosse
Saturday at 2 with Palmer Saturday at 2 With Paimer Stadium providing a picturesque setting. If the Tigers are able to top Brown, another strong contender, on Finney field this Wednesday, the outcome of the Harvard-Princeton game will decide to whom runners in honors go in whom runner-up honora go in the lvy League. The Crimson has already been beaten by Cornell, the defending champion, and the Ithacans will be heavily favored to turn back Princeton in a game at Ithaca on May 5.

Coach Dave Benjamin's tennis team, well on the way to another successful defense of another successful defense of its Eastern League tennis title, will face Columbia Friday at 3 and Penn the following day at 2 on the University Courts. The Tigers made Navy their fourth straight victim in league setting at Apparellis Saturday. action at Annapolis Saturday, but had an unusually close call before barely winning, 5-4.

Princeton's baseball team, now bogged down with a 6-13 mark, will conclude its home portion of the Eastern League race when Columbia comes to Clarke Field for a 3 o'clock game Friday and a hardhitting Penn nine plays a doubleheader starting at 1 on Saturday. The Tigers are 2-4 in the race and heading for another second division finish.

Other games on the schedule during the coming week are all on the road: Temple at Philadelphia Wednesday, Rutgers at New Brunswick Monday and Rider at Lawrenceville Tuesday. Temple, one of the top Eastern teams, is the strongest of

DARTMOUTH DEFEATED

In Lacrosae, 12 to 7. A Dartmouth lacrosse team that is somewhat stronger in the sport than the Green has been in a number of years was beaten by Princeton Saturday on Finney Field, 12 to 7. The victors controlled the contest from the beginning, taking a 4-0 lead and holding an 8-3 advantage shortly after the intermission.

Dartmouth rallied, shaving its deficit to 10-7 before the regained momentum. Tom Gray played wll in the Princetoo goal and was credited with 17 saves.

Bob Thomas, junior attackman, had three goals and an assist and now has 11 goals in his last three games. Highscoring Dave Heubeck, another junior, assisted three times and scored twice, his two goals at the first of the game doing much for the Tigers' successful afternoon.

Carl Nissen, George Brush and freshman Steve Delligatti all added a pair for the Orange and Black. The defensive feat

Wagner, no better than 3-13, wagner, no better than 3-15, was tamed by freshman Bob Holly for seven innings, Chris Cascia working the final two in relief. Holly, whose performance holds promise for the future, gave up eight walks and eight hits but was the victim of only one error as he won his first game in a Princeton uniform.

The victors banged out 14 hits, four of them by catcher Rod Shepard in his first four at bats. Captain Joe DeGeorge was credited with a single, double and triple.

first game and never located the plate again. The run was the result of back-to-back triples by Ed Kish and Vic Kurylak. Lockenmeyer pit-ched, yielded only six hits but needed more support at the plate to win.

The second game saw the losers debited with the mark of a really struggling ball team when they made more errors (four) than they did hits (three). Hoon Mo Chung, who has yet to win this year, lost his third of the spring. In 14 innings, the Orange and Black produced just seven hits and a lone run.

The Cascia brothers were the victims of the five errors charged to Princeton in the Trenton State game, the winners assuring their triumph when they managed three runs in the fourth without hitting the ball out of the ininning 8-7 loss to Long Island fleld, so unskilled was the Tigers' fielding. Extra base hits by DeGeorge, Shepard and Kurylak (a two-run homer for the latter) kept the Orange and Black close but eventually the Tigers lost their 13th of the season. That's only two short of the number of defeats last spring, and they still have 15 games left.

PHS entertains St. Anthony here at 3:45. "At this point, St. Anthony is the best team in the league," states O'Neill, unequivocally. "They have a good club. They have 14 back and they are hitting the heck out of the ball.'

On Monday, PHS will op-ose West Windsor in Plainsboro, its sixth league opponent, and then play all six again in May.

Hitting Not There. "The main thing we've got to do is start hitting," said O'Neill. In the team's last start against Hightstown, PHS loaded the bases in the first inning with one down but the next two one down but the next two batters were fanned by Ram pitcher Howie Hoffman. "You

Robinson, O'Neill reported, was also sound in the field and "had the best day of his career." John Keaney, Chuck Kohli and Dave Reed had the other hits for PHS off Hoffman, Princeton's only run came in the second when Robinson singled home Frank Whittaker.

Earlier in the week, it was not so much a lack of hitting as a lack of the timely hit which cost PHS a 7-6 setback at the hands of Lawrence. "We left the tying and winning runs on base in the botton of the seventh," observed O'Neill. 'We haven't played a team yet that we couldn't have

Mark Adams and Jo Keaney each doubled for PHS, Adams driving in two runs in Princeton's three-run second in-ning. Designated hitter John Sapoch also drove in a pair of runs as PHS scored twice in the last inning but left runners on first and third as Cardinal hurler Chuck Krepp pitched out of several jams to get the win – his first.

Matt Kahny started for PHS but ran into trouble in the first when Lawrence jumped on him for three runs. He threw 30 pitches before he got the side out and O'Neill replaced him with Judd Petrone, who pitched four frames in making his varsity debut on the mound. Whittaker, like Petrone, an infielder, pitched the last two lnnings, Petrone being charged with the loss.

Five for Lion. Senior attack Tommy Lion enjoyed his most productive day against Lawrence ville, scoring five goals. Tommy Bolster added a goal and two assists, while Chris Harford had the other PHS goal. The PHS defense limited Lawrenceville standouts Kip Sparrow and Jay Budd, both Princeton residents, to three goals, Sparrow getting two. Steve Budd, one who didn't get away, is a sophomore middy on the PHS team. "He's going to be good," predicted Cirullo. After PHS had taken a 1-0 lead in the Lawrenceville conlest, the Larries came back to score a pair to lead at the end of the first period, But PHS was doing what Cirullo wanted: moving the ball, riding and disturbing the Red and Black squad.

Then, unaccountably, says Cirullo, his team lost its mental sharpness. "It's disturbing. They scored most of their goals off our mistakes. Lawrenceville is good enough so you don't make those

In the second half, PHS narrowed the gap. "There's no question we were the better team in the second half; the kids showed a lot of character," said Cirullo. PHS outshot favored Lawrenceville, 35-20. "If it just weren't for the fivegoal spurt ...'' said Cirullo, thinking of what might have been.

Town Title At Stake. The annual battle with PDS is THE game for both teams because the two squads know each other and the town cham-pionship is at stake.
